A yearbook is produced to allow us to hold onto memories of the good things that occurred during the school year. This yearbook will hold special meaning for three of the programs, for it will be their last yearbook.

On May 30, 1986, the Clinical Laboratory Science, Medical Laboratory Technology, and Respiratory Therapy programs were discontinued. No prewarning, just a simple statement that these programs would no longer exist. The reason given was simple; these various programs did not generate enough monies for the institution, therefore they will exist no more.

To say that the teachers and students of these programs were angry and disappointed is an understatement. We were frustrated to think that all we were thought of was how much money we generate. The administration did not take into account all the time and dedication contributed by the teachers, nor the enthusiasm exhibited by the students. The administration did not listen, when employers told them that the graduates from these programs were some of their best employees. The administration did not pay attention to the good reputation of Hahnemann graduates. All they looked at was if the programs were in the red. Even when program directors volunteered to make drastic budget cuts, they did not listen.

It is sad to think that many Universities including Hahnemann have forgotten the main purpose that they were established for: to give quality education. Hahnemann graduates do receive an excellent education, due to the dedication of the faculty. If Hahnemann School of Allied Health is to continue to exist, the bureaucracy must remember education is first, not money.

Many times a yearbook is dedicated in the memory of a special person. We, the yearbook staff, would like to dedicate this yearbook to all the teachers and students of the School of Allied Health. To all the teachers, past and present, who always kept "quality education" as their primary goal. To all the students, past and present, whose enthusiasm has enriched the programs. We thank you all. We hope this yearbook will serve as good memories.

Finally we hope the School of Allied Health will continue to grow into better things, but to do this we all must remember EDUCATION must come first.

Get to know us!™

"Get to know us Philadelphia . . ." starts the song that people who live in Philadelphia are familiar with. Here at Hahnemann, students are given the opportunity to experience the social and cultural events going on in Philadelphia. Through the Student Service Office, Hahnemann students are lucky to be discount tickets to movies, museums, concerts, and special events. One can take a walk on South Street, New Market, or ride a bike along the beautiful Fairmount Park. Philadelphia has many fine restaurants, parks, zoo, and a nightlife that won't quit. Philadelphia has it ALL, and Hahnemann students are lucky to be so close to it all.

In Appreciation

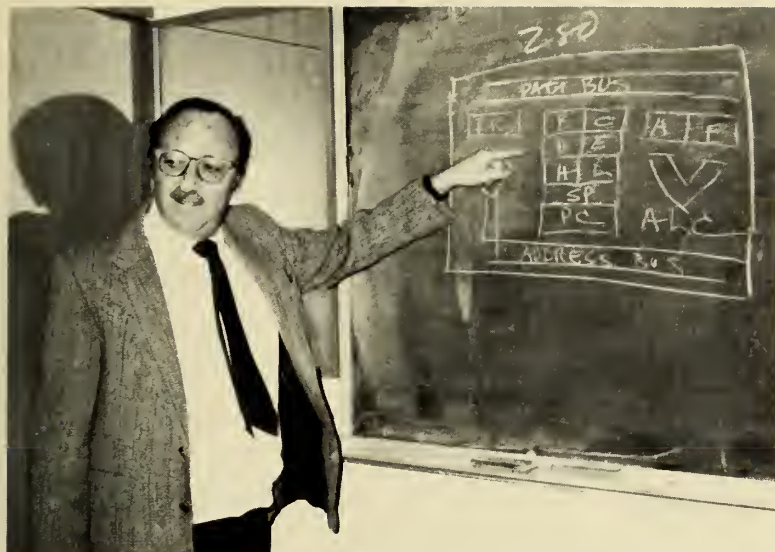

Mary E. Schlosser

On August 31, 1986, Associate Dean Mary E. Schlosser retired from Hahnemann University after nineteen years of service. Dean Schlosser first came to Hahnemann in 1970 to serve as Director of the School of Nursing. After serving three years in the School of Nursing, she was promoted to Associate Dean for the School of Allied Health Professions. During her years as Associate Dean she has made many contributions to the School of Allied Health. Associate Dean Schlosser has served diligently and has made a lasting impression on both students and faculty alike. The yearbook staff and students of the school would like to thank Dean Schlosser for all the time and effort she has devoted to our school. Our best wishes for a healthy and happy retirement.

Mary Schlosser and her secretary and friend Pauline Polek.

1986 DISTINGUISHED FACULTY AWARD

Dr. Martin Lipschutz, Ph.D.

The Distinguished Faculty Award recognizes a faculty member for excellence in teaching and outstanding service to the school. This year's recipient, Martin Lipschutz, epitomizes those qualities for which the award stands.

The recognition of Martin's teaching abilities and his considerable influence on students began long before his joining Hahnemann's faculty, extending from the East coast of the United States to Taiwan where he was a Fulbright Senior lecturer and consultant for the United States Educational Foundation of the Republic of China. This ability to impact on students from diverse cultures extends into his writings. One of the books Dr. Lipschutz wrote with the intention of helping his students understand a difficult subject has been translated into Spanish, German, French, and Italian. His influence on young minds has been worldwide.

It is students at Hahnemann who have benefitted most recently and most directly from their contact with Dr. Lipschutz. Student evaluations, often the bane of an instructor's existence, have consistently pointed out that Martin is extremely patient, ever understanding of program constraints on student time, and empathetic to their needs. He shows consummate skill in being able to successfully teach difficult quantitative subjects to non-mathematics majors. One of Martin's colleagues told me how Martin would so intricately lace the subject matter with his wit and humor that many students learned in spite of themselves.

University students are not the only recipients of Martin's teaching excellence. Several years ago when it became evident that many faculty members were computer illiterate, Dr. Lipschutz designed a course, wrote the lecture notes and laboratory problems, and taught the course for faculty during the summer months as a service to Hahnemann University and its faculty. Martin then assisted others in developing a computer teaching program for all Hahnemann faculty, staff, and students.

The excellence of his teaching, the style of his presentation, and the compassionate quality of his interaction with students makes Dr. Lipschutz a role model for us all.

The staff of the Horizon's yearbook and all the students would like to congratulate Martin M. Lipschutz, Ph.D., Professor of Physiology and Biophysics on receiving the 1986 Distinguished Faculty Award.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

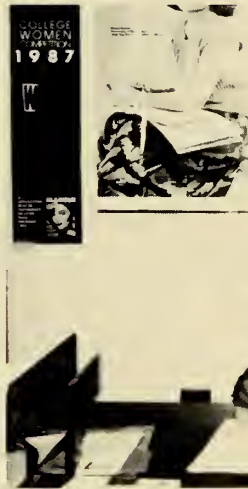

Jean Dorman, Director

Arvin I. Lubetkin, Ph.D., Dean of Students

The Office of Student Activities is the focal point of extracurricular activities at Hahnemann University. Movies, social events, intramural basketball, volleyball and softball, the student newspaper, the SAHP Yearbook, discount tickets for the theatre, movies, and cultural events are just a few of the activities that are coordinated through the Office of Student Activities. Support and administrative assistance is provided to various student organizations and interest groups. Students are actively involved in the planning, organizing, and implementing of various activities through the University Activities Committee.

STUDENT COUNSELING CENTER

The staff of the Student Counseling Center help students with personal concerns and academic difficulties. Problems with studies and test taking, adjustment to University life—these are some of the problems with which we've helped students. Individual counseling and skills-building workshops enrich the educational experience at Hahnemann.

Career Services

Anne Weisbord, M.A.

Anne Halpin, Secretary

Career Services serves all students of all of the schools of Hahnemann University. It is also available to alumni. Services include a part-time job program (JLDP); information on grad schools and further education; materials on various careers; and assistance with resume writing, interview techniques and job search techniques. There is a job referral file as well where employers list their vacant positions. The primary objective of Career Services is to offer assistance with career development; putting background, education and skills to use in a position which offers fulfillment and satisfaction.

This picture may depict us as being calm, cool, and collective but pictures can be deceiving. Doing this yearbook is a big production filled with a lot of hassels. There are many things that happen that you never count on, for example-Cindy taking that once in a lifetime shot with no film in the camera, Mary Alice scheduling senior portraits and no seniors showing up, working 'til midnight to make a deadline, or doing twenty layouts only to find out that they all need to be changed.

Producing a yearbook can be frustrating at times but there is also satisfaction. Over the past four years Cindy and I have been co-editors for three of those years. In those years we have met and worked with some great people. We were lucky to come in contact with the different programs, faculty and students. We had a chance to meet other people besides just the individuals in our own program. In spite of all the hard work we did have fun. We were lucky to be in front of all the special events, to get great pictures.

Cindy and I did not do this alone. Over the past four years we have worked with some of the best people- the students who participated on our staff, the faculty for putting up with our constant interruptions, the administration for their cooperation, to all of you we say thank you. A great big thank you to Phil Klein from Jostens Printing and Publishing. Last but not least a special thank you must go to Jean Dorman who has put up with our constant complaining and lines like "Jean, just one more favor." To you Jean we thank you for all your time and constant encouragement.

So for Cindy and myself this will be our last yearbook (Thank God!!!) We have always tried to put out a good yearbook, hopefully the Last will be the best.

Humanities And Social Sciences

Humanities and Social Sciences are an integral ingredient to each curriculum in the allied health sciences. Through these disciplines the student is made aware of the richness and complexity of the person who will take on the role of client or patient. Literature, philosophy, and religion address questions of the nature of persons. History, psychology, and sociology place the individual in the context of society. Both disciplines are necessary components in offering the student a comprehensive picture of the individuals with whom they will interact as the student assumes his or her professional role in one of the allied health sciences.

CLINICAL LABO

RATORY SCIENCES

Eton G. Newsome, CLS '87

Eton was born in Kingston, Jamaica. She attended school there and obtained an Associate degree in Medical Laboratory Technology. After working for 3 years as a Generalist and rotating through all the labs, she migrated to Nassau, Bahamas and worked in the Microbiology lab for three years. In August of 1984 she came to Hahnemann University to obtain a Bachelor degree in Medical Technology.

According to Eton, after working for six years it was difficult to get back into the routine of studying. On the other hand, the practical experience she obtained by working has been of great advantage to her.

Upon graduation Eton would like to teach Microbiology and eventually go on to obtain her

MS. in Education. Eton likes the USA but misses the crystal clear water of the Caribbean sea. Eton we hope all your dreams become reality.

Joan Brown, CLS '88

Originally from Illinois, Joan is currently in the CLS class of '88 and has a Co-op job at Northeastern Hospital. She is one of the unique few who has made a career change. Joan had two very successful insurance positions. She worked for a company and soon became manager of the claims department. Later, she was treasurer for four years in Virginia with another firm.

Then upon moving to Pennsylvania, the switch occurred. She enrolled in the Manor Junior College MLT program. Joan feels much reward in helping others and in constantly meeting changes in the laboratory atmosphere. Her future plans are as ambitious as her original move into health care. Joan hopes to obtain a Master's degree and eventually return to her home state of Illinois. We wish you success Joan, in all you do.

Carol Swift, MLT '87

Carol is a native Philadelphian who is presently married and a mother of three boys, ages 7, 10 and 12. Carol worked as a volunteer in the parent nurseries of the School District of Philadelphia and was a Den leader for the Cub Scouts for three years. With the birth of her last son, Jeffrey, Carol became interested in Medical Technology and decided to pursue a career for herself.

In 1985, Carol came to Hahnemann; she chose HU because of the good practical experience the MLT program offers. Carol finds time in her busy schedule to participate in Student government and in the Bed Race committee; it is difficult to raise a family while going to school, but to Carol it is well worth the effort.

Carol hopes to get a job in the field upon graduating in 1987 and eventually return to school for her BS. Best wishes Carol, in your endeavors.

Melecio Pineda, MLT '87

Melecio was born and raised in Ecuador and obtained a BS in Education while there. For 1 year, he worked as a teacher for the community in the Andes part of Ecuador and for 5 years as a teacher for the blind. Mel's dream is to become a Medical Technologist; his work in Ecuador was so involved that he was unable to pursue this career.

In 1981, Mel came to the USA; he worked for 2 years with the multiply handicapped. Mel then took a job working in recreation for the profound retarded people at COMHAR (Community Organization for Mental Health and Retardation) and is still working there.

In 1985, Hahnemann opened its doors to Mel and his dream. Upon graduation in '87, Mel hopes to work as a Medical Laboratory Technician and then continue on for his BS. Best of luck Mel in accomplishing your goals.

Kathleen J. Dougherty, MHBS '87

Kathleen J. Dougherty is a single mother of a young son. She completed her high school work at a city funded program called Comprehensive Services for School-Age Parents. When that much needed program faced closure, Kathy appeared before city council to speak in its behalf. She wrote two articles about her experience and the value of this special program. Both articles were published. There is no doubt that her work helped to save the program for other school-age parents. Kathy decided to enter the mental health field to increase her understanding of people and thus become a better writer. She has now decided to make her major career goal mental health, but will still continue to write.

Shahidah Farugi, MBHS '87

Shahidah Farugi is a senior who has already accomplished a great deal and who is very likely to achieve even more. A mother of five children, Shahidah is an intensely spiritual woman with a thirst for knowledge. At 17, she was the first female Muslim minister in the Delaware Valley. She has counseled prison inmates and assisted young children in the schools. Shahidah feels that we only use a small part of our minds, especially the spiritual part. Someday she would like to have her own school where all aspects of childrens' minds could be developed fully. We are sure that she will be successful.

Lynne J. Rosenstein, Mental Health Technology '87

As a Mental Health Student I have begun to work with people who are chronic medically ill. My focus is to look at the interface between medicine and psychology, to consider how a patient's physical condition affects their emotions and daily living, and also how emotional stresses affect their physical condition.

My goal is to help the patient achieve a balance in coping with their illness. As a student of Karate for ten years, my perception is that through a focused intentionality, I have been able to keep my life in balance with the nature of living.

Gloria Williams, Mental Health Technology '87

As a student in my senior year of high school, I was introduced to Hahnemann Hospital. A work study program at Hahnemann sponsored by Dr. Satsky enabled me to acquire preparation for future employment. Qualifications and hands on experience came under the guidance of Administrative Director Ms. Kathy Morris of the Heart Station now known as the Cardiovascular Institute. Post graduation in June of 1972 and an application later I became an Electrocardiogram Technician. Hahnemann became a University during my 12 years of employment there. Various technical experiences I have received from Hahnemann such as, Unit Clerk, 3½ years. Hemodialysis Technician, six years. I am an active member of Union 1199C and their stipend program. The stipend program made it possible for my leave of absence and entrance into the Associate Degree Program in Mental Health Technology graduating class of 1987. I am also a full time parent of two lovely sons, ages eight and nine who are my inspiration. Inspiration also comes from a host of previous co-workers and a special professor, Dr. Astrid Alvarado-Jimenez. My current goal upon graduation is to matriculate to a BSN program in preparation for a full time position on 11th PMCU as a psychiatric nurse. May God bless all my fellow classmates and those who have inspired me.

Nancy Scalone
Nursing Bachelor of Science

Nancy graduated from the Hahnemann Associate Degree Program in 1983. She works at Metropolitan Central Hospital in critical care areas, and attends the part-time evening option of the BS Nursing Program. To earn a bachelor's degree in Nursing is important to Nancy because it will give her the foundation she needs to move ahead in the profession, perhaps as an educational coordinator for a critical care area. For leisure she likes to read, to needlepoint and to work with plants. When asked what is important to her, she says, "I think nurses should value themselves more. They need to realize the importance of what they do, and seek to contribute to the profession."

Renee Sussman
Nursing Bachelor of Science '87

Renee Sussman, a captain in the air force, graduated from Philadelphia's Methodist Hospital School of Nursing. Most recently based in Las Vegas, Nevada, she decided to return to Philadelphia to pursue her bachelor degree in nursing. In her spare time she enjoys scuba diving, racquet ball, and horseback riding. While a student here at Hahnemann University, she has worked as a volunteer in a local hospital, counselor at a women's shelter, and received hospice training. Upon graduation, Renee will be qualified to be in charge of an OB-GYN unit in an Air Force hospital.

Nursing is fun!

Don't you wish he was our teacher?

We're on official business.

I can't take this class today!

You mean the average on the exam was a 20!

Cardiology is very interesting.

What do you think is causing the Anemia?

It's a lazy kind of day.

Get me the President!

Let's sit in the back so we can leave early.

Did you understand this lecture?

Just another party.

The best way to study.

To tape or not to tape?

Yeah, I did all my readings too!

Really ma', we studied all day.

Oh no, lecture again?

Look, school's cancelled for the month of December.

Say "I love you" and get off the phone.

Does it go on forever?

Mind at work - energy needed.

Gold shoes, only click twice.

Patricia L. Rice
Physician Assistant '87

Graduation day and subsequent NCCPA certification represent for Pat the fulfillment of a 14 year quest and the dawning of a life-long dream to be able to impact on modern health care as a physician assistant.

Pat graduated from the University of Dayton in 1973 with a B.S. degree in Medical Technology. While working at Vanderbilt University she found admission to local PA programs limited to applicants with armed service experience. She spent the next 12 years pursuing a career in basic science research-six of those years at the Medical College of Virginia in periodontal research where she simultaneously earned a M.S. degree in Immunology, and six of those years at the Hershey Medical Center doing Herpes Simplex Virus studies. Pat is co-author on numerous papers and abstracts which resulted from these endeavors.

Embodied by the emotional support of Bill Rice, her husband, Pat became a member of the Hahnemann University P.A. Class of 1987. Upon graduation she hopes to spend two years working in a rural family practice setting. Her later goals include combining her research experience with her clinical skills at a major university hospital research center. Ultimately, she would like a chance to further the profession as a member of the teaching faculty of a P.A. program.

Gary N. Scidmore
Physician Assistant '87

Gary Scidmore was born and raised in Langhorne, Pa. Ever since early childhood, Gary has been interested in the medical field and in helping others. Gary graduated from Bucks County Community College in 1978. While in high school, Gary joined the Pennel Middletown Emergency Squad (PMES) and received his Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) in 1975. Gary was Medical Director of the PMES from 1980-1982 and Chief of the squad in 1983, during which time he assisted in setting up the first paramedic unit in Yardley, Pa. Gary was instrumental in helping to establish the first Advanced Life Support unit at PMES.

In 1983 Gary started working at Lower Bucks Hospital Emergency Room as a paramedic on a part time basis. Gary's enrollment in the P.A. program at Hahnemann has allowed him to pursue his dream of a productive and challenging medical career.

Ina Williams
Physician Assistant '87

I am a 37 year old mother of college and high school students who came from Northern California to attend HU on optimism, perseverance, and a prayer. I had no medical background (I was in business) and even though I became totally awed and overwhelmed at times with the demands of the P.A. program, I succeeded. Not because I didn't have any worries monetary wise (unless it was because I didn't have any money, period) or because I'm exceptionally intelligent (I don't even have any good study habits), I succeeded because I believed in me, had a lot of special people believing in me, and persevered. Perseverance . . . yeah! that's the ticket!!!

TECHNOLOGY

Mary T. Bryson, Radiologic
Technology '87

A senior student at Hahnemann in the Radiologic Technology program has had an unusual year. In a routine blood pressure check for Health Awareness Week, she had very high blood pressure. Mary T. Bryson, in May of 1986 was diagnosed as having coarctation of her aorta. In the descending aortic notch, there was a severe constriction causing increasing loss of blood flow since birth. In June of 1986, Mary underwent surgery for aortic repair. This experience has made her more aware of a patient's needs. She can now relate better to the individual's condition. The fact that now she has portrayed the role of a patient made her aware of "life's curve balls." Mary wishes to further her career because she realizes the boundaries she comes up against being a technologist. Her classmates have chosen to spotlight Mary to commend her for courage and determination in such a traumatic situation.

Nancy Murray, Radiologic
Technology '87

Nancy Murray has been chosen to be spotlighted because of her achievements and independence, despite the death of her parents and the loss of their support, which many of us take for granted. Nancy relates well in a hospital situation since she has experienced illness and death. She is able to better understand the great concern of family members and friends towards the illness of a loved one. Nancy realizes the desperate need and importance of the care required by professionals in the medical field. Nancy's experience has made her more aware of the needs and difficulties encountered by the patients and their families. We, her classmates, feel that Nancy will be a great contribution to the field of Radiologic Technology.

Sekar Nagaswami '87

Sekar is a doctor of medicine from India who came to America ten years ago to research birth defects at the University of Pennsylvania but now focuses his attention on the structures of blood clots.

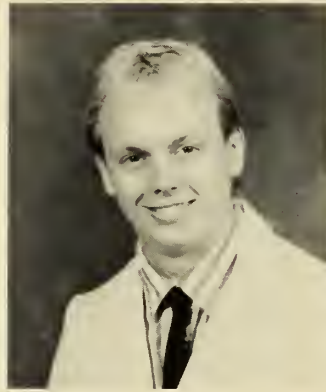

While maintaining his academic standing as a respiratory therapy student, Sekar is a research assistant in the anatomy department at H.U.P. In his free time, Sekar enjoys processing and developing his photographs of scenic Philadelphia. Upon graduation, Sekar intends to pursue his devotion to research and work as a respiratory therapist.

"Throughout our education we encounter questions and doubts, and as we proceed in time we learn to answer them. Now that we have reached our goal, we may look back in retrospect and know that we have been constructively guided toward our graduation."

Final Mania

We'd much rather have a take home final.

Memory don't fail me now!

I think we should study instead of thinking about it.

Five minds are better than one when studying for finals.

Sometimes you just have to laugh.

I hope I can remember this for the exam.

Do you think she'll ask this?

The pressure is on.

If I take one more exam I'll die.

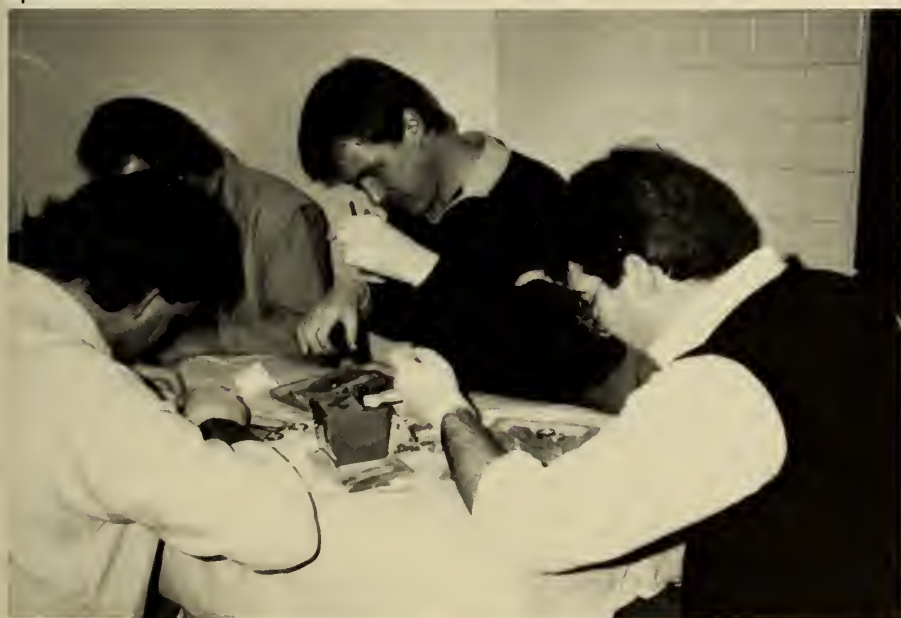

What you have to do to find peace and quiet!

2 more minutes till we fail the exam.

Can't stop, I'm late for a final.

The ultimate final —a PRACTICAL!!
